

Stroke Clinical Fellow

The Royal Melbourne Hospital Department of Neurology is offering a 1-year stroke clinical fellowship position in 2023. This role will provide excellent exposure to stroke clinical medicine in a world class comprehensive stroke centre under the leadership of Prof Bruce Campbell. The position will include experience in the management of hyper-acute stroke, thrombolysis, endovascular therapy, cutting edge management of intracerebral haemorrhage, brain imaging, clinical trials, and prehospital stroke care on the Melbourne Mobile Stroke Unit (MSU).

We welcome applications from candidates who have completed 2 years of ANZAN neurology advanced training (core), or equivalent. Depending on performance, there will be an opportunity to extend the 1-year fellowship into a higher degree such as a PhD.

Interested applicants are advised to contact Narelle Cullen, RMH Neurology Admin/Contracts Manager, for further information or a copy of the position description.
