

Health
South Eastern Sydney
Local Health District

STROKE FELLOWSHIP POSITION 2022

A 12 month full-time accredited Fellowship with a heavy clinical-research focus is being offered at the Prince of Wales Hospital/UNSW Randwick Campus.

One of Sydney's largest metropolitan public health services, the Prince of Wales Hospital is the major health service in the South Eastern Sydney Local Health District.

The Fellow will receive specialist training in stroke management with exposure to stroke clinical medicine including management of hyper-acute stroke, thrombolysis, brain imaging, clinical trials and research. The Fellow also attends the Stroke and TIA Prevention Clinic once a week.

Participation in research projects tailored to the successful applicant's interests is strongly encouraged and supported.

Interested applicants are advised to contact Professor Ken Butcher
(Kenneth.Butcher@health.nsw.gov.au)