

CONSULTANT NEUROLOGIST – NEWCASTLE NSW

An exciting opportunity exists for a full time/part-time neurologist to join an established neurology practice with a view to succession for the right applicant. The successful applicant will take over the treatment and management of a large number of existing patients and new patients will come from a large referral base established over 28 years.

Neurophysiology equipment is available for continuation of nerve conduction studies and EEG testing.

Premises are located in the Newcastle CBD with excellent wheelchair access and on-street and nearby shopping centre parking.

Newcastle offers a large teaching hospital and several excellent private hospitals. The region has numerous MRI facilities, both private and public and other specialist imaging facilities and interventional radiology support.

Newcastle is Australia's seventh largest city, situated only 160km north of Sydney, located in the heart of the Hunter Region and is bordered by stunning coastline and beautiful beaches and is the ideal city for a lifestyle change with excellent schools and university. The city is supported by an efficient air service to all major cities.
